

Dennis Juricek

He died on December 21, 2004 in Cape Coral, Florida.

After Amundsen he spent a few years in the Army and then attended the University of Illinois. Twelve years of broadcasting in Los Angeles was followed as a Real Estate Broker for eighteen years. He retired to Mesa, Arizona, and moved to Cape Coral in 1994.

Dennis was an amateur astronomer and built his own telescope while working for ABC-TV in Los Angeles. In Cape Coral he had a comfortable home on a fresh water canal. He spent his time on a 19 foot Bow Rider cruiser boat and enjoyed fishing, golf and gardening. He had a large classical music library and a complete workshop in his garage which he enjoyed working at.